PIONEER WASHER.
JAMES BRUSIE,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It does its work by a reverse motion in forcing the water through the clothes

It having a tight cover, the steam thus assists materially in cleansing the clothes, and also avoids the inhaling of steam from hot suds.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to old housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it Campaigning in Southeastern Oregon.

The following correspondence of the Owyhee Avalanche, though somewhat lengthy, will be found quite interesting, both as detailing operations against the Indians and describing a section of country of which little is yet know

CAMP WARNER, Baker Co, Oregon, Sunday, July 28, 1867.

Owyee Avalanche Last evening I wrote and this morning sent you some sort of account of our trip and doings after leaving Paebia on the 23d up to arriving at this place—Saturday P M Of the summing up of the light had back about ten miles, yesterday about noon, I gave the number of killed and captured at fifteen The showing made here this morning is larger by seven—twenty two in all, eleven scalps of warriors—the remainder squaws and pappooses. I was inclined to believe that the first estimate was too high, but am pleased to know that the error was on the other side of the ledger. Darrugh and McKay allowed their Indians to go in after their own style, and the scene was scattered over half a mile of sage and rocks, and besides the little shooting necessary, Jargon was the only sound I heard. Little shooting, I said, I notice that Darrugh, McKay, the subscriber and another savage had two shots apiece at a buck in the sage, about two hundred yards distant, before killing him but the army statistics say it requires 272 lbs of metal to kill a man—and so I should be satisfied, it being a new business to me. Now, since leaving Camp Smith—one week last evening—the campaign figures up thirty five Indians killed and captured—all ages and sexes, just about one half were warriors. McIntosh is still out, and he chances are in his favor that he will increase the loss of the natives. The Snakes are the superior Indian every way in this outfit for "fighting Bodevil with fire"—three fires, I may say, for there are three tribes against the Snakes aside from the soldiers The fight yesterday terminated with fire, surely, for three Indians had to be literally burned out of the rocks—one being cooked almost white; they would not yield on more favorable terms. One of the besieged Snakes made a defiant speech from his position in the rocks. McKay and Darrugh have tolerably good command over their Columbia river tribes, who are armed with Maynard carbines. Gen. Steele did a good thing when he organized these two companies, but he would have conferred additional advantage on the service had he sent up improved arms to the Snakes; but then he perhaps did the best he could at the time. The captured Indians, I am told, are to be taken care of by the enlisted Indians—experience proving that they do better with their own kind, and besides Government has to feed the bills whatever the attention

When first captured, the incipient Loes have a commissary of their own always where they can put their fingers upon it, the living afforded thereby cannot be said to be "fat," as they seem to catch it whenever they want it Like the Chinaman's, the variety is confined to "chee." The Indian soldiers immediately put the squaws to work round camp, or, in accordance with orders from the General, take them out to assist the scouts in finding the haunts of others. His idea is, as I infer, to keep about three bands of scouts ahead and on either flank, at a distance of ten to twenty miles from the main command, and either band large enough to take in any ordinary wickiup of natives; also, to find favorable camping places for the main command, which will do its traveling in the night, and thus, should any of the Indians escape the scouts, they can only inform to that extent. In case a large number of Indians are seen together, then the whole outfit to make a forced march in the night and surround them. Nine out of ten, when the combatants are equal, the fight results in a fruitless foot-race—the soldiers being able to attack the Indians only upon one side or point.

The success of the command so far, and upon success alone is everything judged in this practical world, implies that Gen. Crook's plan is as good as any; and I believe he has the Indian character a little nearer down to a scratch than any man in the regular service. By having sufficient men to surround and whip any band liable to be met, and good scouts with change of horses, he can sweep a wide belt of country and keep it up continually. The best information locates the bulk of the hostile Indians in the country marked in outline by Camps Bidwell, Warner, Watson and Fort Klamath; a band of about sixty is supposed to be operating above the Forks of Owyhee, and Capt. Coppinger, at Winthrop, is simply able to clean them out if he has the luck to corral them. He has a detachment of Snake scouts and a good man at their head, and orders, I believe, to go on the campaign within a very short time. The delay of supplies has caused a delay generally in the campaign. This evening Maj. Perry, with his company, and McKay, with a detachment of his Indians, go with several days' rations on a scout to the southeast Now a word for Camp Warner, which is about one hundred miles west of Camp Smith and located at the eastern base of Warner Mountain, the eastern shores of the Warner Lakes—all of which take their name in honor of Capt Warner, of engineers, killed in a canyon near here by Indians as early as '49 In the summer season, and until snow falls, Warner is a nice camp, and the country all round for miles—especially north and south—is a beautiful contrast to anything I've seen since leaving upper Jordan Valley. Right at the present camp there has been a thick grove of pine, but the wants of the camp have thinned it out to a few trees for ornament. The quarters are low log structures, altogether the arrangements are comfortable and of very cheap get up. At present there are two companies of the 23d Infantry stationed here—Maj Collins, Co. D, and Capt. Hinton, Co. B Lieut. Jack, of the latter, is quartermaster at the post. The commandants aforesaid—Hinton and Collins—keep things neat round here. A very hospitable people they are—even to a vagabond like myself Lieut. Eskridge, District Quartermaster, and Lieuts. Madigan and Parnell have just arrived from Camp Smith with all the materials for fitting out Co H, 1st Cav., for the coming campaign, and otherwise strengthening things necessary. Gen. H. Bailey is sutler at this post Notwithstanding Camp Warner is the finest located post in the district—from a summer and fall view of the case—it is out of all favor with Gen Crook, who came near losing his own life and endangered his men in getting to and from it last winter, and he is determined to change it every way just as fast as it can be done after securing a new site. This is a terrible place for snow in winter and an swampy for several months afterwards that its removal on that score is impersitive.

MONDAY, JULY 29, '67.—In camp on Darrugh creek—stream putting into Warner Lake from the west, and perhaps fifteen miles northwest of Camp Warner Darrugh, with a detachment of Indians left Camp Warner last night to scout the way to the new Post, and this morning Gen Crook, with Capt. Harris and company, followed. Darrugh got lost in the rocks west of the lake and encamped here just in advance of the balance of the command—eleven A M. To get here, we followed southerly along the base of Warner Mountains several miles, thence down an immense hill and a rocky one to the lakes, thence north a mile or two to a narrow place over which Capt Hinton made a very substantial stone crossing, thence northwest along the margin of the lake, or rather marsh, to the debouch of this stream. The lakes are a series of marshes—at times a clear uninterrupted water—extended north and south upwards of forty miles, and in places fifteen wide; the mountains making a high, steep and rocky shore on the east, and on the west the lakes are bordered by the usual variety of sage scenery and formations—varied with low rye-alkali flats on a level with the lakes, which is the principle vegetation and nearest thing to timber I've seen on these lakes, am told, however, that sagebrush is unknown farther north where the lakes widen. Ducks, geese and gulls innumerable in sight. The Warner Mountains considerable timber of the mahogany and juniper species, but I have heard of no prospects mineralogically. Substituting sagebrush pine for those lakes and Warner Mountains are in a manner very similar to Stein's Snow in places yet Indians can have a good view of matters east from the mountains and retreat into the lakes and sage west By the way, I should not forget that there is a very perceptible current in the lakes setting north, and the question arises whether they are not the outcroppings of a large subterranean river?—besides, I am told that the water rose in them one foot during one day last Spring, which would require a hundred times more water than the natural watershed of the surrounding country can produce. Here then may be something of a solution of the problem of what becomes of the waters that sink in Nevada To continue the subject a little further, these lakes are on a level with the Harney, Malheur, etc, and the latter, I believe, have no outlet above ground, and the presumption is that all are connected, though Harney Lake tastes salty, while Warner Lakes are fresh and clear—and cool As I may learn more of the subject during the Summer, I will only add that on the east side of Warner are many large detached boulders, presenting smooth sides, whereon are traced in outline pictures of mountain sheep, deer, etc, with a species of indelible ink, but by whom is not known Persons who are conversant with Fremont's journals of explorations, say the location and heiroglyphics correspond to those mentioned there in—many years ago.

TUESDAY, 30TH.—Camped to-day on same creek, ten or more miles above yesterday's camp, where we remained till to-day. Found Darrah, who has several scouts out north and south creek heads in the mountains farther up—mountains, a sandy timbered range, trending north and south, and in patches frequent along the summit Going up this stream, the view ahead is a perfect picture to the way of mountain scenery.

WEDNESDAY, 31ST.—The General, with a part of the command, go in quest of a suitable place for establishing a new post Continue up same creek a couple of miles, then strike north out of the Mormon Basin past discovered, and traveled several miles through an open timbered country—a bench of the mountains, which, in the absence of any other known title, it is proposed to call Crook's mountain. It is the only thing in the country unnamed ill to receive any particular application, and this is certainly a sheering landscape, and the atmosphere of pitch and pure cool air in connection affords a welcome relief from the nauseating mixture of sage, alkali, sand and heat so monotonous and omnipresent in "this golden land of dross and stones." This mountain looks placer like from the foot-hills, but I have no authority for saying, as yet, that a color has been found It is a section of U. S's domain scarcely scratched by the toe nails of white men. Too sign of game is abundant. Four mile's travel and the outfit halted on the skirts of the timber, and in a depression of mountain plain, in which is found several streams of excellent water. Here Gen. Crook selected a site for a new post, which it is intended shall be known as Camp Woods—a double signification—in honor of Gov Woods, of Oregon, but should that fail to connect anyways soon, the post can fall back on its own resources and safely continue its name for the next century. The belt of timber continues northwest from the new Post as far as the eye can reach till the mountains seem to cease in the plain; straight, clean pines and so thick as to hide the ground The new location is about on the line of longitude which forms the eastern boundary of California, and perhaps thirty miles in Oregon—and the latter may feel proud that there are some redeeming features in the southeastern section of the State. The supplies at present must come via Chico, and there again goes the romance of the thing as pictured out for Westcott eyes—ever inclined to "see it" reflected only through the "Almighty Dollar." There is much of this country natural grazing land, and here and there good yields of hay are obtained, but that article will have to be carried several miles to supply Camp Woods. Gen. Crook has in view the comfort of his men, and the new site will have advantage over that of any post now occupied in the district—wood and a shelter against the wind Trees are a nice size for building. The altitude is evidently five hundred feet lower than Camp Warner—a point again in the matter of temperature. Capt. Hinton is along getting the lay of the land and instructions regarding the erection of the necessary buildings which he will commence in a few days and occupy when finished. Back to camp at one P M Darrugh Creek is almost one continual camping place from mouth to source—large willows, grassy bottoms and a healthy stream of cold water; and currants and gooseberries in profusion. No permanent Indian sign along the east side of Crook's Mountain, but several very distinct trails—tending south. Scouts discovered where two horses had been slaughtered at intervals, on one trail, about two weeks ago. Followed trail south about fifteen miles, where they became numerous and pretty fresh They strike small river puts into Warner Lake from the southwest, and that the country is favorable to immediate communication to Camp Bidwell—barring a range of mountains running across the north end of Surprise Valley, and on which snow is visible from present standpoint. Up to this time the weather has been so uniform that I failed to notice it, but as we travel mostly in the night the heat and dust worked in a manner novel, and otherwise, this country is not blessed with much variety in the summer season. This evening, however, we had a nice little shower of rain, accompanied with thunder and lightning. I must say a good word for the mosquitoes—a chief source of annoyance in camp life. So far I have found them few and those badly disciplined—whatever others may say, and on the subject of mosquitoes, Cats, etc, I intend to express an opinion at all hazards and at all times and places. The amount of rations on this trip not justifying much of a raid after Indians, it is resolved to return to Camp Warner.

CAMP WARNER, Aug. 1st.

By the nearest cut-off to the crossing before mentioned. Say ten miles over table land of lava, etc, to the shores of the lakes, to which we got down through a dry, rocky canyon and thickly lined with large juniper trees, among which the evidences of Indian life a month or so back are abundant. Got to the big hill at noon, and with the sun reflecting in full power on the black wall, the prospect heavenward suggested feelings quite opposite, and before I reached the summit—on a level too with this place—I recalled "John Phoenix's" experience at Fort Yuma, Arizona. I believe he stated that a soldier, having died there from sunstroke, went to purgatory and immediately returned to Fort Yuma after his blankets.

Find things at Warner running pretty level. Captain Perry returned without the color of an Indian, and Archy McIntosh—who had got in from the first week's scout—a camp here with eleven more natives to add to the list—forty-six at least He got into a good sized wickiup, off some distance southwest, killed two bucks, other squaws, etc, captured. Most of the bucks got into the rocks before he could cut them off, and gave him and a few Snakes a determined fight. The love of plunder—mankind, I suppose, from the whites along the Columbia—rendered the other Indians reckless on the occasion, and after it became apparent to McIntosh that he must lose all his men (only four in number,) in more desperate attempts to dislodge the enemy, he concluded to come to Warner He is considerably disgusted, and for one who works very hard he is entitled to some relief. I infer there will be some pretty sharp talk to the Snakes supports before another campaign—which may not commence for ten days yet, besides, a brief cessation of raids may throw the hostile fellows off their guard and into the belief that every thing is permanently quiet on the part of the military Gen Crook, with a small command, is going on a skirmish to Silver river—running south into Malheur lake from the west, east and north of this place about one hundred miles—for the purpose of selecting a sight for another military post There is a company temporarily stationed at Camp Wright, which will

SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 24, 1867.

The Railroad.

Enough is known of the organization of the "Oregon Central Railroad Company" and the prospects for the construction of the road, to give assurance that the enterprise is a reality. As has been stated heretofore, there can be no doubt that the contract is made, that the contractors fully intend to undertake the work at once, and that a part of the iron and rolling stock has been purchased. Recent intelligence from San Francisco confirms the statement relative to the purchase of a portion of the material, and adds that it has already been shipped from New York. T. B. Brooks, the engineer who will have charge of the work, will be here by the 15th of September, and will immediately begin to survey the route and locate the road.

The contract price for building the road is $35,000 per mile in coin. The Company are to issue their bonds for payment, to be secured by mortgage on the road. Bonds to the amount of $15,000 per mile are to be delivered when the material is shipped for Oregon; and the balance, less twenty per cent. of the whole, are to be delivered when the first section of 25 miles of road is completed. When the work is finished the remainder of the bonds are to be delivered. The interest on these bonds, at the rate of seven per cent. per annum in coin, is to be paid on the first day of January and July of each year. The bonds will be secured by first mortgage, held by Messrs. A. C. Gibbs and W. S. Ladd of Portland as Trustees for the bond-holders, and will be payable in twenty years. The contractors agree to take the bonds of the Company at par for interest that may fall due before the road is completed. The earnings of any portion of the road that may be operated before the whole is finished, are to belong to the Company.

Opportunity will be given to persons in Oregon who may wish to invest in the enterprise to do so on reasonable terms, so that as much of the stock as possible may be retained here. For six months it may be taken by Oregonians by paying in ten cents on the dollar, and at the expiration of that time it will be put in the market. This will give our people a considerable advantage in purchasing the stock, and will afford opportunity for controlling the road in Oregon.

Both in the articles of incorporation and in the contract it is specified that the road is to commence at Portland. This, therefore, is a fixed fact, and there need be no apprehension that it will start anywhere else. A report is being industriously circulated that it is not intended that Portland shall really be the initial point of the road, but the contract plainly states that if the road is built at all said its construction there now is to be over a probability, it must start at Portland and in what order, [illegible]

The Oregon Central Railroad Company (a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Oregon, and having its principal place of business in the city of [illegible] in the county of Marion in the said State) hereby acknowledges itself indebted to Pitt Cooke, Esq., or to the holder thereof, in the sum of One Thousand Dollars, payable in gold coin of the United States, at the city of New York [illegible] years from the date hereof, with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually in like gold coin at the city of New York on the first day of January and July of each year, upon the surrender of the appropriate coupon [illegible] hereto annexed. Opinion of Jefferson

However orthodox Thomas Jefferson was (in a Democratic sense) on the subject of State rights, his views of the rights of man were (if judged by the [illegible] Democracy) so utterly heretical as to entitle them no quarter among his professed followers at this day. The man who wrote the Declaration that "all men are created equal" was not terrified at the idea of "negro equality." To show what his views were upon the capabilities of the negro we cite the following letter from him per date Philadelphia, Aug. 30, 1791. It should be added that the person to whom it was addressed was a colored man, and that he had written a letter to Mr. Jefferson, avowing himself "freely and cordially, one of the African race," and of his color that is natural to them, the deepest dye. The almanac which this letter encloses was prepared and calculated by the [illegible] own hand:

SIR I [illegible] sincerely for your letter and the almanac it contains. Nobody wishes more than I do to see such proofs exhibited that Nature has given to our black brethren talents equal to those of the other colors of men, and that the appearance of the want of them is owing merely to the degraded condition of their existence both in Africa and America. I can add with truth, that no one more ardently wishes to see a good system commenced for raising the condition of their mind to what it ought to be, as far as the imbecility of their present existence, and other circumstances which cannot be neglected, will admit.

I have taken the liberty of sending your almanac to Monsieur de Condorcet, Secretary of the Academy of Sciences at Paris, and member of the Philanthropic Society, because I consider it a document to which your whole color have a right for their justification against the doubts which have been entertained of them.

I am with great esteem, dear Sir, your obedient, &c.,
THOMAS JEFFERSON.

To Mr. B. Banneker.

If Jefferson were living at this day he would, of course, be called a "mongrel" a "nigger worshipper" and a "Radical miscegenationist." The man who could speak of the negro race as "our black brethren," and address a colored man with a "my dear sir," would not be tolerated among modern Democrats; much less would he be followed as a leader.

Crumbs of Comfort.

According to Copperhead papers, "astonishing Democratic gains" in recent elections are exceedingly common. The Herald is in ecstacies because a report has been started that its party had carried Crawford county, Pennsylvania. It makes the announcement on the authority of a little country paper published in Indiana that a special election was held in the county above named for State Senator about the first of July, resulting in the choice of a Democratic candidate. This is heralded as a "most remarkable change in public sentiment," and a leading editorial is devoted to a general glorification over the result. There is one thing which deprives this "remarkable Democratic victory" of much of its significance, and that is that the election spoken of never occurred. There has not been a session of the Pennsylvania Legislature since last winter, and there will not be another session for months to come. A general election will be held in the State about the first of October, when a new Legislature will be chosen. Hence there could be no object in holding a special election for State Senator, and hence again, there is not the slightest probability that any such election occurred. But Copperhead victories have been scarce for some years, and the organs of that party may perhaps be excused for inventing stories like that which the Herald parades with so much ostentation. We advise the reactionists to wait till they hear from Maine and Vermont next month before they stake too much on "remarkable changes of public sentiment" in the East. Just wait till October, and Pennsylvania will speak for herself. And we give notice to the Herald to look out for the usual 2,000 Republican majority from Crawford county.

Political Spirit of the Eastern Press.

The Eastern journals received discuss with much animation various leading political topics growing out of the late session of Congress and the conduct of the President in endeavoring to thwart the action of that body. It is evident from the tone of the press that the President by his insane opposition has lately done much to alienate those moderate Republicans who have hitherto been accustomed to apologize for his course. The New York Evening Post, a paper which is proverbially known for its moderation and steadiness, talks in this way about Mr. Johnson's message to Congress, in relation to the debts of the late rebel States:

The last "red flag" flung out by Mr. Johnson was in his message yesterday, where he told Congress that if the State Governments are to be destroyed, the nation should assume the State debts. We shall now hear, we suppose, another roar of rage from one side, and of delight from the other. There is a sort of stuff called "flap doodle" at sea, "flap-doodle" is the soup they feed fools on, and it would seem that Mr. Johnson feels himself called on to furnish this kind of stuff for all the fools on both sides of Mason and Dixon's line. It is a harmless broth—only at this critical period it affords sustenance to a very large number of persons who are, unluckily, able to keep the country in an uproar.

In referring to the same subject, the Albany Evening Journal holds the following language:

Andrew Johnson raises a frightful ghost, to startle Congress from pursuing the path of reconstruction it has marked out. He grows eloquent over his subject. He strives hard to make himself believe that the National Government will become responsible for the debts of the Southern States, in the event of assuming to regulate them. Possibly he does believe it. We are prepared to think he believes almost anything. But nobody else will be so verdant. That the property of the Southern States must defray the expense of its government is both common sense and law.

The New Haven Palladium is still more severe in its method of handling the subject:

The President affects to believe that Congress, by overthrowing governments which never had any legal existence, makes the nation liable for the debts of the ten rebel States, and thus depreciates the credit of the Government. Argument would be wasted against a proposition so inherently ridiculous that even Democratic Senators received the message with contempt. It must be merely the gratification of petty malice, and a tenacious vanity which still survives in spite of the mortifications it has already undergone, and which leads him to imagine he can injure the credit of the nation he has failed to make subservient to his policy. He has thrown his last stake, and would do well to retire from a game in which he has proved himself a bungling trickster, deserving to cheat but lacking the skill needed for the accomplishment of the dirty work.

The Boston Traveller has the following remarks upon the man who is doing his utmost to baffle and defeat the known will of the country:

Mr. Johnson will be President, supposing he should not be impeached and removed, less than twenty months,—and in those months, Congress will sit about half that time, without reckoning extra sessions, so that the President's opportunities for doing mischief will not be very great, even should he not be summarily dealt with after the Bountwell-Butler plan. His disposition to do evil, or what we be believe to be evil, is singularly strong; but his power to do it is as singularly weak. After all his roaring in 1866, he faded before Congress like the hopes of a man before the simoom of life; and now he is wilting before that body like a weed under a summer sun. A man who thus bears himself—boasting when he sees his foes afar off, but neither barking nor biting when they are near at hand—is hardly worth the fine farce of an impeachment, wherein sundry gentlemen would seek to outdo Burke, Fox, Grey, Wickham, Sheridan, and others of the managers of the impeachment case. He is a nuisance, we cheerfully admit, and ought to be removed; but would it not be as well to leave his removal to the great scavenger, Time? This would not be a proper question were he in office for life; but his time is near an end, that it would be cheaper, and quite as safe, to watch him as to hunt him.

Even the New York Times, a paper which might be supposed to be the one of all Republican journals which would be inclined to palliate Johnson's conduct, speaks of his last veto message in this pointed manner:

In its spirit the document is singularly unwise, because gratuitously offensive. It arraigns Congress as tyrant and usurper. The reported assertion at St. Louis, that Congress as at present organized is an illegal body "hanging to the skirts of the Government," was scarcely more insulting than the epithets which close yesterday's message. Mr. Johnson may honestly condemn the policy he resists—he may object to its right as well as to its expediency; but his position does not warrant him in denouncing as "the rod of despotism" measures which the people who elected him have approved; or in talking of "the armed heel of power" in connection with laws which the country sustains; or in assuming that he alone comprehends and upholds the principles which give vitality to Republicanism. These allusions and assumptions would be improper at any time as between one branch of the Government and another. They are indecent in view of their repudiation by the people, who are the proper umpires in the controversy.

We apprehend that the tone of this message will reconcile many to measures which, with an Executive more happily constituted, might be considered of doubtful propriety. Manifestly, the administration of measures so complex in their nature, so delicate in their working, could not be safely left to one who has no sympathy with their aims and no tolerance toward the agencies through which they operate. If anything were needed to establish the wisdom of supplementary legislation, designed to place the working of this particular plan above the chances of Executive meddling, Mr. Johnson has supplied it over his own signature.

The issues at stake in the yet undecided political contest, and the demands of the Northern people upon those who were recently in rebellion, are tersely stated in the following paragraph from the Chicago Republican:

The North cannot surrender a single one of the principles that have been maintained by it during and since the war. It must have a recognition of Federal sovereignty—clear, explicit and unchangeable. It will insist upon the absolute and unconditional surrender of every theory on which the South attempted revolution. It must demand and will secure, in the amended State Constitution, an endorsement of manhood suffrage, without distinction of race or color. It will be content with nothing less than a reorganization of the civil structure upon loyal bases. But having obtained these guarantees for the future, it need ask nothing as a revenge, but will, with generous magnanimity, concede to the hallied rebels a renewal of the rights they forfeited by their treason, and welcome them in their return to the Union they madly sought to destroy.

BIRTH AND DEATH RATE OF THE WORLD.—The London Lancet of a recent date contains the following:

Statisticians have calculated that if the population of the world amounts to between 1,200,000,000 and 1,500,000,000 persons, the number of deaths in a year would be about 32,000,000. Assuming correctness of this calculation, the deaths each day would be nearly 88,000—3,600 per hour, 60 per minute, and thus every second would carry into eternity one human life from one part of the world or another. But reproduction asserts its superior power; for, on calculating the probable annual births on the globe, the result shows that whereas 60 persons die per minute, 70 children are born, and thus the increase of population is kept up.

Why don't the Democrats who are looking out so sharply for "gains" say something about the election in Colorado? The Republicans have made a clean sweep in the Territory. Last year the Democrats claimed to have elected their delegates to Congress, but his Republican competitor contested and got the seat. Colorado has always been very close and the present Republican victory is therefore the more valuable.

LETTERS FROM THE INTERIOR OF THE STATE.

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT.]

YONCALLA, Aug. 20, 1867.

These hot days and warm nights, as well as the wild grape vines on the creeks and valleys clubbing over shrubery and trees, the native plum trees, blushing with loads of crimson fruit; the great bunches of mistletoe on the oaks and pines, and the broad fields of luxuriant corn—are indications that the climate as well as the productions of Southern Oregon, are quite different from that of the North part of the State, and reminds one very much of the Middle and Western States.

I saw on the farm of Mr. H. Coon, near Roseburg, a field of corn containing 60 acres. His farm lies in the "South Umpqua" river bottom. The land is very rich, and produces corn almost equal to the western prairies. Small grain, grass, vegetables and fruit of all kinds yield remarkably well upon these bottom lands.

The rich valley lands of Jackson and Douglas counties, are already valuable, although so remote from market, and so locked in by mountains. But as soon as the railroad is built to carry away their abundant products, their value will be enhanced fourfold.

In my rambles through the Umpqua, I have fallen upon some of the most charming little valleys that can be found anywhere, among which are Cole's valley, near where the Umpqua plunges into the coast mountains; and Garden bottom, and the French settlement just above, as well as the country at, and above the junction of north and South Umpqua rivers—Yoncalla and others—all of which are rapidly growing into homes of wealth, pleasure and intelligence. I visited the scene of the atrocious "Rossburg riot" of last Christmas, and entered and inspected the room where the horrid tragedy was enacted. It is about six miles from Roseburg, on the South Umpqua, at the house of Mr. Shampine. I also heard the detailed statements of several persons who were present and witnessed the whole affair, and there seems to be no room for a doubt that it was an unprovoked and premeditated outrage, of too base and malicious a character for any but the most depraved to engage in. The case now seems to have assumed a political aspect—the Copperheads of the locality, with a few exceptions, siding with the rioters. I found at home, busily engaged in the affairs of his farm. It is a treat to converse with this intellectual pioneer. He is a man of deep thought, close observation and extensive learning—one from whom something may always be learned. Being one of the earliest settlers of Territory, and having watched its rise and progress, he is a living history of the State. In exploring the country, opening roads and developing our young State, no man has done more than Jesse Applegate. I have met many of the subscribers of the

SACRAMENTO UNION.

This paper has been a great favorite among the people of the southern counties of Oregon, as well as in California, but there is not one in fifty of its patrons, that I have seen, who indorse its course in the present political campaign in California. And very many of them declare they will not countenance, or sustain that, or any other paper that refuses to support the Union nominations. I can see among the people a fixed determination that no newspaper, or man, can, or shall, destroy the Union organization. And it is an object of pride to know that the people of the loyal States acknowledge no leader but the right. Seward was once the great chieftain of his party; Johnson, Dolittle, &c., were favorites, but the great loyal people dropped them in a twinkling, as soon as they varied from their standard of principle. Many of the

FARMERS

Are disheartened, and quite discouraged on account of the short crops and the low price of grain and other farm products. It is true, that the present crop is below the average and prices are not so high as usual, but that is not sufficient cause for men to give up, and lie down to scold about low prices. Now, it seems to me, that when the profits on the staple articles of the country are small, that it would be necessary to produce the greater quantity to make up the deficiency. But the reverse of this has been true in Oregon. Whenever an article got a little low, nearly everybody stops producing it, so that there is always a "feast or a famine" among us. Whenever it is known that there is always an abundant and constant supply of any of the staple products of the farm, such as flour, grain, hops, &c., in any State locality or country, the simple fact that the article is always to be had there, opens to it a great channel of trade, and it always has an equal chance in the great markets of the world. Suppose, for instance, that it was known throughout the flour-consuming world, that there was always a very large quantity of wheat for sale in the Willamette valley, at the general market price, how soon would the railroad and steamboat men open a channel to this fountain of trade and wealth, and there would not be half so much danger of monopoly, for the quantity and reliability of the trade would invite competition. Capitalists will never build roads, railroads and steamboats until there is something for them to do, and the more there is for them to do, the cheaper it can and will be done.

REDDING'S

RUSSIA SALVE!

[ESTABLISHED 1866.]

Price 25 Cents per Box.

Is the Universal Remedy for

BURNS, SCALDS, CUTS, BRUISES, and all FLESH WOUNDS; for CHILBLAINS, CHAPPED HANDS, PILES and OLD SCROFULOUS SORES; ERUPTIONS, BLOTCHES, SALT RHEUM, and all CUTANEOUS DISEASES.

REDDING'S RUSSIA SALVE is a purely Vegetable Ointment, made from the very best materials, and combines in itself greater HEALING POWERS than any other preparation before the public. Its timely application has been the means of saving thousands of valuable lives of relieving a vast amount of suffering, and wherever used has proved itself in reality A BOON TO SUFFERING HUMANITY.

SIXTY YEARS' GENERAL USE OF THE RUSSIA SALVE IS A NOBLE GUARANTEE OF ITS INCOMPARABLE VIRTUES AS A HEALING OINTMENT.

The very large sale of REDDING'S RUSSIA SALVE, during the past sixty years, has given rise to hundreds of unworthy imitations, but throughout all opposition, the RUSSIA SALVE maintains its supremacy as a reliable preparation, having a steady and permanent sale, and never deteriorating in quality, by age or climate, and is sold to dealers at a price enabling them to realize a generous profit by its sale.

For sale by all Druggists and Apothecaries.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California—a selection of the best articles appearing in THE DAILY OREGONIAN,—full and reliable news from the Mines, and the most copious commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is double that published by any other journal in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests.

☞ Single copies 12½ cents, or $3 00 per year, to any part of the United States, or British Columbia.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—The following items are from the Register: Some person fired off a rifle on the penitentiary grounds in this place on Wednesday last. The ball struck a soldier named Casey, who was at work in the rear of the grave yard nearly a quarter of a mile distant and broke his leg. The discharge of the rifle was purely accidental. The wounded man is in the hospital and it is feared that the limb will have to be amputated. ..... A Grand ball will be give by the Occidental B B Club on Friday evening, Aug. 23d, at the Odd Fellows' Hall ..... A terrible accident took place at the garrison on yesterday morning. Three soldiers, one of them belonging to Co F, 21 Artillery, and the others to the detachment of recruits who came up on the Orilamme, were conversing together on the balcony of the upper story of one of the company quarters, when suddenly the balcony, against which they were leaning gave way and the men were precipitated to the ground, a distance of some thirty feet. One of the men fell on his head, creating a fearful wound and sustaining other internal injuries, which in all probability, will prove fatal. Of the others, one of them broke his leg in such a manner as to render amputation probably necessary. The other broke his arm.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.—We clip the following items from the Enterprise, received last evening: Mr. Henry Warren, of the Land Office in this city, has been lying quite ill for several days. On Monday last, it became known that he was recovering ..... On Monday last, teams began distributing pipe for the first mains of the Oregon City Water Company, and the same will be embedded in mother earth perhaps next week ..... The liberty pole brought from the woods by Marshal Ryan, for erection on the Fourth of July will be raised to-day on Academy Square, High street. It will give a decided tone to the city, having been nicely dressed and painted by Mr. Broughton, who has also added a top-mast to it, making its extreme height 141 feet 9 inches ..... Mr. L. Zigler of this city, aided by his colored assistant, Thomas Lee, in one week made one hundred flour barrels, at the factory on Baile road. These were all made by hand, and in the best manner. In addition to that number, Mr. Zigler himself made three pieces of light work. This factory is turning out as good work as any in that line on this coast, and is ought to be well sustained.

THE OREGON STATE FAIR.—We have often been asked of late, when the State Fair is to commence. We had the run of the thing for awhile but the Board of Managers had, once or twice, changed the time of opening, and so we had, like everybody else here, got "into the wilderness." We now, however, have authentic information as to the time and duration of the Fair. It will open on Monday, October 7th, and continue till the evening of Saturday the 12th. A note from A. G. Schwatka, the corresponding Secretary, closes with the following remark: "Present indications warrant the hope that the forthcoming exhibition will surpass all previous ones, in every important respect." We acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary ticket of admission to all the privileges of the grounds. While on this subject, we will express the hope we feel that all the people of the country will appreciate the full importance of sustaining this State institution. Properly supported it may be made the means of such general usefulness as shall be sensibly felt in every part of the State, not only this year and the next, but in all future time.

CORRECTION.—Yesterday morning, we published an item to the effect that Jerry Driscoll, a deck-hand on the Senator, had got into trouble in San Francisco by disturbing a Union mass meeting. Mr. Patton was our informant as to the circumstances. We, at the time, questioned whether the Jerry Driscoll arrested was the same man whom we had known as an employee on board the Senator; but Mr. Patton was sure it was the same man, and as we could not remember whether we had certainly seen Jerry within the last week or two, we concluded it might really be him. Yesterday, however, we learned that our Jerry Driscoll is still running on the Senator, and that, therefore, our item, so far as he is concerned, was altogether incorrect. We cheerfully make this correction, all the more so because our Jerry Driscoll, of the Senator, is one of the last men whom we should expect to find concerned in raising a row at a public meeting or elsewhere. There was, however, as we say the paper, a man of that name arrested in San Francisco, tried and sentenced to fifteen days imprisonment for being engaged in riotous proceedings.

ERRATA EXTRAORDINARY.—Several Dalles gentlemen have been in this city for a day or two, whose principal errand seems to be to look out for the interests of the Dalles in respect of the U. S. Branch mint. They have been waiting the arrival home of Senator Williams, to hold a conference with him and Senator Corbett, for the purpose of learning their views. To the Dalles people, this is a question of deep interest. They have the impression that our Senators can wield a powerful influence in the matter of the expenditure of the Congressional appropriation, at that place. We do not believe that either of them is at all averse to the Dalles as the point at which the expenditure shall be made, or that any effort they can make for our neighbors will be spared, whenever there may be a proper time for action. There are some difficulties to overcome, for the existence of which no one in or of Oregon is responsible; but we trust that, in time, all obstacles may be removed and that our Dalles friends may yet rejoice in the possession of a branch mint.

A NEW STYLE CALENDAR.—Mr. C. P. Ferry, the Agent in this State of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, has presented us with a new and very convenient style of calendar, printed by the company for office use and which answers the double purpose of a calendar and a conspicuous advertisement of the company's business. Whenever we consult it for the day of the month, we are reminded that "All kinds of non-forfeiting life and endowment policies" are issued by the company; that "all policies, after three years are non-forfeitable;" that the "annual income of the company is nearly $2,000,000; that "insurers receive the largest bonus ever given;" and numerous other bits of information of use and interest to the general public. M. C. P. Ferry is agent for the company and will be happy to execute policies in any part of the State.

FROM ASTORIA.—Captain Kerns, of the U S. Grant, gives us the following items: A Frenchman, name unknown, was caught at Astoria, day before yesterday, by a man whose he had swindled at Victoria, out of $2,000. He was brought up on board the Grant in charge of the Sheriff of Clatsop county. The victim of the Frenchman had followed him over here and then to Astoria, where he found the swindler putting on more airs than a money king..... The Grant took on board at Oak Point, and brought up a man named Barr, who had been suffering since 1859 with paralysis of the legs. He has not walked a step since 1859, and the disease seems to be extending itself to other parts of the body. Barr comes here for treatment by Dr. Bryant, the spiritist.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.—Lucy Stone is getting old. She says in a letter to the New York Post, speaking of those who have labored for women's rights: "During so many years has this been done, that they who came with fair young cheeks, and offered youth, health and strength for this sacred cause, to-day are crowned with gray hairs, and furrows are on all their faces."

This information will knock the "Women's Rights Party" higher than Gilderoy's kite; for, ninety-nine out of every hundred women, think more of their youth and beauty than of their "rights"—and so do the men.

ROSENBLUM VS. HOFFMAN.—The hearing of this case was completed yesterday, before Judge Shattuck. The plaintiff filed his reply thus making up the issue, and testimony was received as to the issue of facts. After the conclusion of the argument of counsel, the Judge dismissed the petition for mandamus, without prejudice to the rights of either claimant of the office of marshal. The decision was in effect that, as there is a subsisting controversy as to the occupation of the office, the proceeding by mandamus is not the proper remedy.

THE WILLAMETTE FERRY.—We have a photograph, by Rochtel, of the drawings of the proposed draw-bridge across the Willamette at this place. The picture shows the entire bridge as it will appear when finished, together with the line of low water and the high water line of 1862. On the same picture is shown drawings of the lower chord and upper chord of a single section, with its elevation. The drawings also show the profile of the river bed.

A STAND-OFF.—Bro. Ireland of the Enterprise has found a "rara avis," in the shape of six kittens, all joined at the hind legs. A rara avis cat, with six bodies and six heads, is a little rare—a trifle more rare than Pluto's dog, Cerberus, which had only one body, with three heads and a dragon's tail. But a rara avis cat! Brother Ireland, just let that stand as a set off to Bro. Carter's "Lethe of cannibal bliss."

THE M. E CHURCH.—The walls of this building are rapidly rising into completeness height. The walls of the basement were some days ago completed, the window frames of the main story set into place and now the bricklayers are carrying the work upward at a rapid rate. By the end of another week the walls will be far higher than any of the surrounding buildings, and an idea of the imposing structure will then begin to be possible.

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED.—The injunction granted by Judge Deady, some time since, in the suit of F A Davis vs. H C. & J. N. Victor, restraining defendants from disposing of certain interests in lands and property in this State and Washington Territory, was dissolved by order of Judge Deady on last Friday. We neglected to mention the matter at the proper time.

BARMAN BROS.—Barman Bros., one would think, have a rather heavy stock of goods on hand now, but it seems they are not content with. Mr L Barman will go below on the steamer Oriflamme to buy an extensive addition to their present stock, of the latest and most fashionable styles of furnishing and clothing goods for the Portland and Salem trade.

CITY OF PORTLAND VS H L. HOYT.—This case was not taken up yesterday, the case of Rosenblum vs. Hoffman occupying the entire day. It will be heard at 10 o'clock this morning.

TO LEAVE US.—Bishop Thompson, after a season of hard labor in this State, will return to San Francisco by the Oriflamme, which will sail this evening.

MILITARY.—The Register says: We learn that Gen. Alvord (formerly commanding the Military District of the Columbia,) has recently been ordered to Omaha City, where he is to be stationed permanently as Chief Paymaster of the military Department of the Platte.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF MERCHANDISE.—Mr A B Richardson will sell to-day for Sheriff Stitzel a large invoice of merchandise, seized on execution against H H Snow. The sale will take place at the store of McCraken, Merrill & Co near the steamship sailing.

CLIPPER TO SEA.—The steamer Grant arrived from Astoria yesterday. Capt Kerns states that the Clipper left Astoria yesterday morning at 10 o'clock intending to go immediately to sea. She is bound for Victoria with a heavy freight of general produce.

RECORDER'S COURT.—On account of Recorder Hoffman being detained in the trial before Judge Shattuck of the case in which he is defendant, all the cases pending in the Recorder's Court were, yesterday, continued till this morning.

MR. CHARLES BARRETT has a large assortment of new papers and magazines. Almost anything that is wanted in this line can be found on his counters. This office acknowledges the receipt of a liberal bundle.

COMPLETED.—The plank road way on North Front street, between C and E streets, was completed yesterday afternoon. Though rather narrow, it will prove a great convenience in the absence of pavement.

CAMP MEETING.—Rev J W Turner informs the public that there will be a camp meeting, held under the auspices of the M. E Church, at Ames' Chapel, in East Tualatin circuit, commencing Sept 13th.

THE PIXIE PRELUDES.—A T. B. club of this name has been organized, and, we learn, will play a game at one o'clock this afternoon on the Pioneer's grounds. We suspect there will be plenty.

MR. O'CONNOR.—The many friends of Mr O'Connor, will be pleased to learn that his symptoms last evening, were still favorable.

PERFECTLY EXHAUSTING.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHANAHAN, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet. And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like these? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world-wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

Travelers are always liable to sudden attacks of dysentery and cholera morbus, and these occurring when absent from home are very unpleasant. PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER may always be relied upon in such cases. As soon as you feel the symptoms, take one teaspoonful in a gill of new milk and molasses, and a gill of hot water. Stir well together and drink hot. Repeat the dose every hour until relieved. If the pains be severe, bathe the bowels and back with the medicine, clear.

Fishermen, so often exposed to hurts by having their skin pierced with hooks and fins of fish, can be much relieved by bathing with a little Pain Killer as soon as the accident occurs, in this way the anguish is soon abated, bathe as often as once in five minutes, say three or four times, and you will seldom have any trouble. Sold by dealers everywhere.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, 2 P. M., Aug. 23, 1867.

In New York, yesterday, gold was 141¾. In San Francisco, last evening, legal tenders were very dull at 72c, buying, and 73¼c, selling. On the day the steamship Orizimme sailed from San Francisco, the 17th, coin drafts on Atlantic cities were quoted at 2¼ ₱ cent. Currency drafts 35 ₱ cent. Premium on gold, telegraphic transfers 2½ ₱ cent. Exchange for 48¾d for 60-day bankers' bills on London and 5 francs for 30 day bills on Paris. Gold bars were easier, selling at 800. Silver bars continued dull at ¼ ₱ cent. discount to par. Mexican dollars were nominal at 2¾ ₱ cent. premium. The coastwise receipts of treasure for the week previous, amounted to about $140,000 from Portland, $21,000 from Victoria, and $8,000 from Crescent City.

The latest quotation of flour in New York, was $14 50, on the 22d. Wheat was $2 75.

During the week under review, the general jobbing business of this city has undergone a decided improvement. Orders of considerable magnitude have been filled for the Upper Columbia trade, at prices fully up to quotations. The trade with the Willamette valley has been steady, though no large orders have been received. Altogether, dealers are disposed to be satisfied with the week's operations.

Flour—receipts very light; prices firm. The schooner Crosby sailed on Wednesday with about 600 bbls for Victoria. The Orizimme, which is to sail to-morrow will very nearly clean the market.

Bacon—sides, maintain about the same price as last week, though the supply is very limited. Hams are very scarce, and prices are advancing. We quote to day, 18@20c. There is a probability that there will be a still further advance, in view of the scarcity in California and in the eastern mining region.

Candles—Grant's are one-half ct. higher; Schmidt's, 1½ c, and Kelly's, 1 ct. Other brands firm without change.

Cheese—California, of which, there is a fair supply, is quiet at 16@19c. First class domestic brands, about the same figure.

Oil—superior brands, selling at 67½@70; Coco Nut has dropped to $1 10.

Powder—We quote Hazard's Kentucky rifle, one lb cans at 65c; ½ lb cans, 75 c.

Sugars—San Francisco Yellow C, Golden C, in hf bbls, and crushed, in bbls, are still going higher.

Teas—Imperial and Gunpowder, 25c higher; we quote 70@1 25, but none of good quality can be had at the inside figure.

The above comprises all the material changes in quotations. The general tendency of the market is to firmness in prices.

In produce, the operations of the week have been fair. The heaviest movements have been in groceries, of which large and general assortments have been thrown out. Dry goods, cotton and woolens are very quiet. Hardware is improved, but prices remain as last week.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET REVIEW.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16, 1867.

Our Market Report is the latest, and can be relied upon. The compilation is from all the commercial reports, and embraces the entire list

Since the departure of the last Panama steamer, trade has continued fairly active in nearly all branches of business. There is, however, the usual dullness to report in dry goods, boots and shoes, agricultural implements, building materials, and in all descriptions of hardware, cells, etc. There is a fair demand for coffee, with liberal sales of 300 at 19½c. The sugar market is nearly firm, grocery grades being scarce and high. In view of the diminished imports of these descriptions from the Hawaiian Islands, liberal receipts are expected from South and Central America. The tea market is quiet at rates long current. The supply of China and Siam rice is unusually large, and prices favor the buyer. Case goods and dried fruits are, to a great extent, neglected, in consequence of an abundant supply of ripe varieties. Candles move off more freely, the sales for the past ten days aggregating 10,000 lbs at 21@22c from store for standard brands, the outside figure for Grant's. Coal oil continues steady with, however, an improved inquiry. Salt fish, with the exception of mackerel, are plentiful, and prices drag. Oregon salmon are offered at $8 50 for bbls and $5 for hf bbls. Since last steamer day, three vessels have arrived from the north with coal, making 303,000 received thus far this season, with about a dozen vessels yet to arrive. In other descriptions of merchandise there is but little of interest to note. Our important trade during the past ten days has been unprecedentedly large. The very prosperity of the whole State, the vast wealth realized from its agriculture, the considerable dividends paid from the mines is manifest not only in the savings banks and loan societies, and in the rise of real estate, but is reflected in the greater numbers and means of those who hold or buy stocks. The aggregate value of the stocks in the market bears a far less proportion to the money capital of the city and State than it did two years since—as then. In 1865, when the wheat crop had a value of $1,000,000 for the whole receipts of this port, certain Nevada mining stocks were held at a value of $20,000,000. This year the wheat crop has sold for $13,000,000, and the same stocks bring but $12,000,000. The deposits in savings banks were then $5,500,000; they are now $13,833,250—that is to say, they have more than doubled. The value of real estate has increased in the same proportion, and every form of wealth shows signs of complete recovery from the depression which overtook it when floods and drought destroyed, so to speak, the agriculture of the State. Amid this general progress, the mines have not increased in number or corporate capital, but they have immensely increased in dividend ability.

Our coastwise receipts and imports foreign for the past ten days aggregate about $150,000. There have been no exports of treasure since the departure of the last Panama steamer, which carried upwards of $1000,000. The San Francisco Assaying Works continue to supply the market liberally with Silver bars, the price of which has declined from 1½@2½ ₱ cent. premium two months ago, to par, and even ¼ ₱ cent. discount. From the Mint a fair supply of coin is obtained while Grain bills furnish the means of exchange to a considerable extent. On the whole, the Money market is in a comfortable condition.

The Iron manufacturing interest of the city is said to be very much depressed, partly in consequence of the eight-hour movement. There is but little doing at present, and the aggregate results of the year, it is feared, will show a considerable falling off as compared with previous years. Our imports of Pig Iron for the four years ending December 31, 1866, were as follows:

1863..... tons	7,098
1864.....	10,363
1865.....	from 5,246 to 6,721
1866.....

These figures show an annual average of a little over 8,000, which may be taken as an indication of the annual consumption, as very little is ever shipped, except in the interior of the State. The consumption this year will hardly exceed 6,000 tons. The imports since Jan. 1st compare as follows with the same time last year:

	1867.	1866
First Quarter.....	1,571	1,097
Second Quarter.....	672	1,852
July.....	805	1,224
Totals.....	2,048	5,029

These figures show a decline this year of 2,000 tons or 40 ₱ cent.

There is good demand for Money, chiefly on account of the interior, for the movement of the crops. The unusually heavy receipts of Wheat—upwards of 1,000,000 sks have been marketed since the 1st of July—fully explains the activity which has of late prevailed. In the meantime, however, there has been no improvement in rates. The usual quotation of the savings and loan societies is 1 ₱ cent.; at the bank, 1@1¼ ₱ cent, and on the street, 1½@1¾ ₱ cent. are the customary rates. Term loans, on prime securities, are easily obtained at 10 ₱ cent. per annum. Our receipts of bullion from the interior of the State and Nevada continue on liberal scale.

Co-operative associations for the benefit of the working classes have attracted considerable attention of late, though the idea involved is not new, such organizations having been in successful operation years ago in the Atlantic States and Europe. It is well understood that those associations are generally formed to protect their members from high prices or unrequited toil, though their origin is sometimes attributed to other causes.

Numerous arrivals have given a very full supply of merchandise as well as tonnage. There have been no less than eleven vessels from Great Britain, and six from the East.

RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT!

THE MOST REMARKABLE DISCOVERY EVER MADE!

Will Cure All Pains in a Few Minutes!

Read the Certificates:

RHEUMATISM CURED!

PORTLAND, August 10th, 1867.

I HAVE SUFFERED A LONG TIME WITH RHEUMatic Pains, and until now have found nothing to relieve me. To-day Mr. J. G. Rennick called at my store and assured me that he could cure me in a few minutes. I thought he was mistaken, and laughed at him, but found to my surprise that a few moments after the application of the SITKA LINIMENT, I was relieved of my pains, and I am now improving very fast. I now believe it will cure me in a few days. For further information call at my store, No. 182 First street.

F. WEGNER.

SPRAINED WRIST CURED.

PORTLAND, August 10, 1867.

I was at Mr. Wegner's store on Saturday, August 10th, and seeing the magic effect of J. G. RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT, in his case, concluded to try it on my wrist which has been sprained for some time. I found relief inside of FIVE MINUTES from its application, and it is now perfectly well. My wrist was so swelled I could not shut my fingers. I believe it will cure any pain in a short time. I will give any further particulars to whoever calls on me.

Tumor Removed!

PORTLAND, August 10th, 1867.

I HAVE USED RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT for pain and swelling of the gum and cheek. I had a large tumor forming on the gum which arose from killing the nerve in my tooth and caused me a dreadful pain which prevented me from sleep for several nights. I applied the Liniment, and to my surprise, it removed the lump and eased the pain so that it is now as well as the other cheek. My cheek was fearfully swollen. This was done in the presence of two witnesses.

I. MITCHELL

I was present and know the above to be true, and am willing to swear to it L. QUIVEY.

PORTLAND, August 12th, 1867.

For five years I have suffered with a pain or weakness in my back, which at times was dreadful. I often thought I could not bear such torment. But I got a bottle of RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT, and with one rub it perfectly relieved me. I can recommend it to any lady suffering from pain in any way, for I am convinced it will at once remove them.

"CAPITAL CITY CHRONICLE."

J. H. UPTON & A. NOLTNER, Proprietors.

ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 31, 1867, A LARGE SIZE WEEKLY PAPER, with the above title, will be issued at SALEM, OREGON.

The CHRONICLE will be devoted to Politics, News, and the development of the varied resources of the State. In politics the CHRONICLE will be unflinchingly Democratic, supporting and advocating all those reforms in National and State policy, so urgently demanded at the present time by every consideration involving the weal of the American people. The necessity for a Democratic organ fully planted at the Capitol, will be at once apparent to every thinking Democrat in the State. Such a one we purpose to furnish in the CAPITAL CITY CHRONICLE, and with the State thoroughly Democratic to-day, with all prospective changes in favor of that party, there is no valid reason why the enterprise shall not prove a complete success.

While the CHRONICLE will devote ample space to the discussion of political topics, the News of the day, the Agricultural Mining, Mechanical and Manufacturing interests of the State at large will receive due attention. A twenty-eight column paper, 26x38 inches in size, will furnish ample space and enable us to present in each number an amount of reading matter equal to the importance of the interests involved. We only ask at the hands of the people that legitimate patronage which shall enable us to present a sheet in every way creditable to ourselves and the State—one which none may have the least reason to be ashamed of.

All contracts for advertising and subscription existing with the late Democratic Review will be faithfully executed by the proprietor of the CHRONICLE.
